Over the past six years, the majority of new jobs in the high-tech and business services segments have been created in metro areas.

New Business Services Jobs 1992—1998

- City/County Metros*: 95%
- Rest of U.S.: 5%
- City/County Metros*: (3.8 million jobs)
- Rest of U.S.: (214,000)

New High-Tech Jobs 1992—1998

- City/County Metros*: 95%
- Rest of U.S.: 5%
- City/County Metros*: (1.3 million jobs)
- Rest of U.S.: (68,100)

*City/County Metros defined as 317 urbanized areas.

Source: Standard & Poor's DRI